Did anyone else catch this?

(or if the iPlayer link expires, try this)

Like a gentle Lock, Stock & Ye Olde Smoking Barrels, with Kris "BT" Marshall leading an unconvincing band of medieval robbers. Thing is, despite the wilful anachronisms, obvious low budget and sometimes cringeworthy acting, it was a bit endearing. David Holmes may want to listen closely to the soundtrack and decide how familiar it sounded in places, though.

I thought it was one of the worst programmes I've seen this year. Bizarre casting, terrible acting and itchingly crap sub-Carry On jokes, made worse by the writers' assumption that swearing=funny.
