
I got a job! (kind of)

Posted by Inca - 09-05-2008 18:12

After close to six months, I finally got a job. The catch: it's an internship, so it doesn't pay anything. But it's something that I'd really like to do, with the City of Los Angeles, so hopefully it will open some doors for me. I can work there part-time, so I can get another part-time job and make a little bit of money.

Plus, I can take an express bus there, and I'm geeked that I'm going to be going to work in this building:

What-ho! Well done. Nice office building, too.

I'll say, that could work out real well.

My Puerto Rican friend ended up doing that with NYC, and now works at City Hall.

Things are looking up.

Strange timing with both of us, JV.

may I just take offence to say, that is the most phallic thing I have seen today.

How come no-one else noticed?

Fingers, eyes, ears, legs and ankles crossed for you Inca

Bugger me, that is quite an erection, isn't it. Don't be hard on us for not noticing the resemblance. Fallus like us overlook things like that.

You can get an express bus from LA to the Warsaw palace of culture? I never knew that.

Congratulations, anyway.
