
Panini Swap Shop

Posted by ursus arctos - 16-05-2008 20:08

Well, there at least three of us who are doing this (all for our kids, of course).

Feel free to post needs/wants here; a similar facility worked quite well during the last World Cup.

We've barely started and don't have any duplicates at the moment, though that could change by the weekend.

I've mentioned it in the other thread but I Angelos Charisteas & Miroslav Klose action shots.
Will be buying again tomorrow so may have more (hope not from a selfish point of view)

Got some more..

Miroslav bleedin Klose again
Volkan Demirel
Hakan Balta
Mehmet Aurelio

Anyone else had loads of Turkish players? Already got 10 of them

Over 50 swaps over here - three shiny ones in Salzburg, Polska and Romania an epidemic of Spaniards (Ramos, Villa, Silva, Alonso, Puyol and half the team pic) and French (3 Makaleles, Sangol, Sagna, Thuram and Gallas) and Swiss (Magnin, Gokhan Inler, Djorou, Frei and Lichtensteiner) along with representation from Romania, Russia, Italy, Holland, Turkey, Czech Republic and Jerko Leko.

Which Turkish players do you still need chasbo? I can offer Gokhan Unal twice or the bottom left of the team photo.

Re:Panini Swap Shop

Posted by chasbo - 18-05-2008 09:21

Cheers Cubillas,

Unal & team photo would be good. In return I can offer any of these fine players:

Miroslav Klose (action shot)x 2
Volkan Demirel
Hakan Balta
Mehmet Aurelio
Angelos Charisteas
Igor Torbinskiy
Lukas Podolski (action shot)

What's the drill? PM postal address?

I'm not in this time, although I could get a great deal just by what I am confiscating from students working their collections during lesson.

Re:Panini Swap Shop

Posted by ursus arctos - 18-05-2008 22:43

We are actually having a difficult time finding someone in Milan who is selling the stickers. Which explains why we have no duplicates as of yet.

Kurt, you are a teacher? I never knew that before. What level (if you don't mind me asking?).

No Swaps as yet ... due in no small part to both my son and daughter insisting on having their own book!

Will keep you informed!

Which one are they printing fewer of this time to enhance his rarity value? In 1986 Maradona was worth 20 other stickers.

Re:Panini Swap Shop

Posted by Kiwi40 - 02-06-2008 09:25

I'm collecting with my six year old son - not sure who is getting the biggest buzz out of it.

I tend to buy him ten packs then release them during the week two packs at a time. For some reason if I buy ten packs I tell my wife I bought six packs....a bit like when I bet £8.50 on my weekend football bets I tell my wife I spent "about a fiver". I've come to the conclusion that all successful marriages are built on constant small-scale deception - but that's a topic for another day.

This is my first post with WSC. It takes me back because, around 1990, I had two articles published. One was in the magazine and the other was in the second WSC book called "Bookable Offence". I was invited to bring a friend along to the book launch one evening in London. I was excited because I imagined the room would be full of famous footballers but it wasn't. I did get a free copy of the book and it was a free bar all night so that was good.

Anyway, my swaps..sorry, our swaps are;

21 - bit of Salzburg
53 - P Degen
54 - P Senderos
72 - Czech badge
93 - L Sionko
102 - bit of Portugal team
123 - Quim
154 - bit of Austria team
191 - D Srna
192 - I Rakitic
214 - P Lahm
215 - T Frings
217 - S Rolfes
224 - M Gomez
227 - T Hildebrand
230,232 - bits of Polish team
233 - Poland badge
254 - Holland mascot thing
303 - A Del Piero
304 - V Iaquina
340 - W Gallas
345 - L Diarra

350 - F Malouda
432 - R Tamudo
456 - A Arshavin
487 - Smolarek action pic

Does anyone need all/some of those?

I am saddened by UA's absence from this thread since he mentioned difficulty getting hold of stickers.

I would hate for his enjoy... his son's enjoyment to be ruined by poor distribution.

I am happy to inform you that a new game is making the rounds amongst 11-year-olds here at my school: You put a Panini sticker on the table and hit it with your flat, open hand. If it turns and lands on its back, you win. So they keep playing knock-out tournaments with who can turn his stickers faster.

Fucking hang the fuck on a minute. I'd hate to interrupt your little swap meet here, but I need to pick up on something as a matter of urgency.

RayDeChaussee, I'm going to ignore the fact you support all but three of the football teams in the world, because that doesn't matter to me. But one thing you're not going to get away with is saying your favourite biscuit is the Bakewell Tart.

The what now? The Bakewell... what? Tart, was that? Since when was a tart a biscuit? Was the question 'favourite cake'? Or 'favourite tart'? Was it fuck. It clearly asked 'favourite biscuit'. Which for me is the modish Nice.

I didn't let imp off with his Jaffa CAKE, and I'm certainly not letting you get away with a sodding Bakewell Tart. Change it forthwith or I'm calling a swap ban. You will no longer be allowed to trade stickers with the others until you modify that... that... ABBERATION.

(This thread has caused a stirring in my loins. I'm getting alburned up as soon as the shops open)

Re:Panini Swap Shop

Posted by RayDeChaussee - 06-06-2008 05:11

Mnb's just dipped into my Iberian pile and left me with:

11, 34, 40, 162, 190, 262, 294, 303, 304, 349(x2), 401, 411, 432, 477, 485, 487(x2), 490, 491, 500, 504, 505, 533.

Going out on another sortie later - this album's going down motherf*r.

Suffering from a distinct lack of Germans and Russians, though, which merely confirms my hunch that they'll playing out the Euro final.

EIM, as an Anglo-Scot exiled in Spain I think I'm entitled to three club sides. Don't know what I'd do if they all got drawn in the same Champions League group, though. As for Scotland, that's a life sentence I can't do anything about.

Let's move on to my tart selection. Perhaps I have transcended the boundaries of biscuitness, but I still feel it's a valid choice. Maybe WSC could extend the category to "Favourite biscuit/tart/cake". We'd all be happy then.

Thing is I've never really been a biscuit fan. Ok, Clubs, Uniteds, Breakaways and Penguins all played a part in my childhood, and I'm not denying Nice aren't nice or that a Hob Nob dunked in your coffee isn't pleasurable, but for sheer soft, luscious almondness nothing comes close to a bakewell tart, except perhaps a macaroon or an almond slice (depending on the manufacturer, of course).

If push came to shove, I could stretch to a Tunnocks, but that's as far as I'm prepared to go.

I'd be happy to open this out into a general discussion. Anyone else got any input?

I wouldn't.

And as for never being a biscuit fan, I'm genuinely shocked, saddened and worried. To paraphrase Samuel Johnson, a man who is tired of biscuits is a bit of a dick. And possibly quite creepy. And dangerous. Almost certainly dangerous.

Interestingly, however, in naming Clubs, Uniteds and Breakaways in your (it has to be said, poor) biscuit selection, you've summed up my football supporting life. So kudos there, I suppose.

I guess the problem we have, the common ground we lack I suppose, is the whole 'dunked in your coffee' bit. I'm a tea man, and I think tea and biscuits walk hand in hand, like a pair of loved-up newly weds. Coffee and biscuits? Same couple twenty years later.

Ah, Ray. You have now arrived.

EIM, Spain and tea just don't mix. I never drank coffee before spending seven weeks in Spain in 1984; I haven't stopped since.

Re:Panini Swap Shop

Posted by EIM - 06-06-2008 06:41

This is the third thread I've discussed tea on in the past few hours. Tea, eh? It's like buses. In almost no way whatsoever.

Re:Panini Swap Shop

Posted by EIM - 06-06-2008 06:43

Coffee and cigarettes, as well as being a track on my Otis Redding CD, are two things I really would expect myself to be in to, but I'm not. It's weird. They seem right up my street, but neither do anything for me.

Cigarettes especially. Everyone expects me to smoke. And seem a little disappointed when I tell them I don't.

"Interestingly, however, in naming Clubs, Uniteds and Breakaways in your (it has to be said, poor) biscuit selection, you've summed up my football supporting life."

Completely unintentional EIM, but amusing nonetheless. Reminds me of the eighties terrace chant, "There's only one United, and that's a chocolate biscuit."

"Spain and tea just don't mix." Now that's where you're wrong, Ursus. I get regular supplies shipped out from Blighty and I couldn't survive without my 4 o'clock cuppa.

The only problem in Spain is, what to dunk?

Come to think of it, white-chocolate-coated Oreos

(http://estabedentrodelaavedad.files.wordpress.com/2007/11/renov_oreo.jpg) are pretty satisfying.

I might just change that Bakewell tart selection after all.

Correct.

And Rey, I was ruling out resorting to imports. I'm still scarred by asking for tea in cafes and repeatedly getting a cup with warmish tap water and a bag that looked as if it had been left there by British engineers in the late 19th c.

Chasbo, any word on that stash you sent me yesterday? I'm shipping out to Cubillas and Jorge today (Jorge, get back to me on those extra swaps you need), so if any need to go to them let me know.

Don't know how I'm going to fill that post-album void (46 more stickers and I can send away for the last 50). Anyone going to do the latest Bratz album?

Good work on the biscuit amendment.

Shit choice of biscuit, mind. But still, at least it is a biscuit.

Re:Panini Swap Shop

Thanks Le Coq, but I'd wager a good handful of Panini stickers that you've never tried a white-chocolate-coated Oreo in your life.

Only a few hours to go till Spain fall flat on their face against Russia.
It's the defence Luis, the defence.

We are coming late to the table for the simple reason that despite the fact that the things are made in Modena, they are shockingly difficult to find in Italy.

In any event, should anyone still need them, here is our current list of duplicates:

7 Town Symbols Innsbruck/Tirol
11 Town Symbols Bern
18 Stadiums & Towns Salzburg Stadium (left half)
29 Stadiums & Towns Klagenfurt (right half)
37 Stadiums & Towns Zurich (right half)
38 Stadiums & Towns Bern Stadium (left half)
52 Switzerland Diego Benaglio
61 Switzerland Gelson Fernandes
96 Czech Republic Jan Koller
113 Portugal Petit
117 Portugal Nani (x2)
119 Portugal Simao
128 Turkey Team photo (lower right)
157 Austria Emanuel Pogatzetz
161 Austria Gyorgy Garics
165 Austria Christoph Leitgeb
191 Croatia Darijo Srna
209 Germany Per Mertesacker
213 Germany Marcell Jansen
221 Germany Michael Ballack
222 Germany Thomas Hitzlsperger
243 Poland Mariusz Lewandowski

Likewise I'll post up my own needs list later on today.

It appears that Cubillas needs three of our duplicates, so I've reserved 117, 222 and 243 for him (though there is another 117 (Nani) available).

Ursus, take a look at my list above - it's pretty much unchanged. Tell me what you need and I'll send them off to you. No need for swaps as I'm nearly done.

Jorge, I've sent off for the last 32 stickers I need but thanks for the offer anyway.

Cubillas, did I not predict a Germany-Russia final in my first PM to you before the tournament started?

Thanks for the offer Ursus but we finished last Thursday and I'm not ashamed to admit that we relied on Modena for the final fifty. Senor Porbillas' comment smacks of sour grapes methinks and is very hypocritical of a bloke who said last week that he was going to send for fifty under one name and the remaining 25 or so under another name. That is called cheating in my book of honest hombres

Now, now; we wouldn't want figurine to come between old friends.

Ursus minor and I are scheming to arrange a trip down to Modena to see their sticker museum this summer. I think his mother may not allow me to take any credit cards with me. The fact that they now send us advance notice of every Calciatori release (with coupons) has put her on to our little game . . .

Not at all - just telling the swap-shoppers that their swaps were no longer needed.

Technically I wasn't going to cheat as I'd apply for 50 in my name and the remainder in Jorge jr's name.

What do they sell there (apart from the latest stickers, obviously)

I am told that they sell collections going back to the 70s, as well as other stuff like posters made from "iconic" stickers and historical reprints.

I'm a bit afraid to find out, actually.

We'd be interested in these three please ursus:

161 Austria Gyorgy Garics

165 Austria Christoph Leitgeb

222 Germany Thomas Hitzlsperger

Have you sorted your needs list yet?

Ray we need these two from your list:

70, 129

Do you have a needs list?

Cool ... make sure you report back - or even use your blackberry to take orders once you get there!

Jorge, those will be on their way to you as soon as I get back from Stockholm. Pls pm me your postal address again.

Will try to get a needs list up over the weekend (ursus minor tells me he's working on it).

Will definitely report back on the museum if we make it. I can already report that quite a few full collections from 2005 and before (albums and all stickers, unmounted, are available from teh Italian website for 25-40 euro a pop). Coverage can be very spotty, however.

Two applications for one book is cheating. Full stop. Amen.

Got a pile of leftover swaps Ursus, so just le mw know your needs and we'll arrange an aid convoy from north Wales

My weekend at a seminar in Sweden yielded some additional duplicates looking for good homes, as follows:

7,11, 14, 36(x2), 60, 85, 88, 109, 151(x2), 157, 172, 188, 202(x2), 236, 249(x2), 252, 269, 288, 301, 312, 382, 400, 443, 491, 523.

Please let me know if anyone needs any of these, and they will be despatched in the next post.

Jorge, I hope to have the three you noted above out to you tomorrow, but let me know if I should add any of the above to the envelope.

Hope to have our needs list up by tomorrow.
