(if we're having a thread on every single thing)

looks like this

i quite like it. close up it has all the requisite space age appeal for people who like that sort of thing, but it should look quite nicely like an simple old fashioned 1970s sort of thing on the telly, which is what matters most (apart from it behaving like a proper football i suppose, and not swerving about like something bought on margate seafront for 99p)
