

---

WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by EIM - 21-05-2008 23:13

---

John Terry, surely?

=====

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by SamLKelly - 22-05-2008 00:35

---

Not Drogba? His was in open play...

=====

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by barndoorio - 22-05-2008 02:40

---

My annoying post of the day was from sky, telling me to reccomend a friend, despite having taken 7 months so far to deliver my vouchers for the last time I did it.

JT though, I just can't help but feel desperately sorry for him.

=====

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by EIM - 22-05-2008 10:14

---

Sorry?

I've shit my lips laughing every time I think about it.

Where's his fucking dignity, man? The whole world saw him blowing snot bubbles out of his nose, bottom lip quivering. Fuck him.

=====

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by Fred Keenor - 22-05-2008 10:50

---

barndoorio wrote:

JT

Admins? Admins? That has to be worthy of some kind of formal warning, surely?

=====

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by EIM - 22-05-2008 10:52

---

IT looks like 'JT' could be in line for some compensation

(Christ, I'm such a child)

=====

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by Spearmint Rhino - 22-05-2008 10:55

---

---

Oh, wait, who won the European Cup? I forgot to look when I got in.

=====

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by EIM - 22-05-2008 10:56

---

<http://image.guim.co.uk/sys-images/Football/Pix/pictures/2008/05/22/JohnTerryPAMartinRickett3.jpg>

A picture paints a thousand words.

=====

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by Spearmint Rhino - 22-05-2008 10:58

---

Chelsea captain Terry had to be consoled by boss Avram Grant as he broke down in tears after missing the penalty that would have given his side the trophy.

He slipped in his run-up on turf made treacherous by a torrential downpour and sent his kick against the upright.

Ha ha ha, was this as funny as it sounds? I can't wait to see the footage. I hate that cunt.

=====

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by EIM - 22-05-2008 11:00

---

SR - <http://101greatgoals.magnify.net/item/N3VSD3V98Z3T5YRB>

=====

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by Spearmint Rhino - 22-05-2008 11:04

---

Beautiful.

I don't need to see the rest of the match now. That'll do.

(By the way, does this mean Man U fans will finally shut up about Liverpool not having really won 5 European Cups, cos 2 of them were won on pens?)

=====

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by EIM - 22-05-2008 11:06

---

Yeah.

But instead we'll concentrate on the fact you played Ujpest Dozsa U-11 in one of the finals, and that cartoon team from Bedknobs and Broomsticks in another.

=====

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by Dynamo Kev - 22-05-2008 11:27

---

<http://www.indigofire.co.uk/bananas.jpg>

---

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by Sir Fartle - 22-05-2008 19:07

---

Ha Ha Ha

Excellent.

---

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by jason voorhees - 22-05-2008 19:43

---

H&SOL (Howling & Screaming Out Loud)

---

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by Bogzilla - 23-05-2008 10:10

---

that cartoon team from Bedknobs and Broomsticks in another

They were pretty handy, mind. Good range of skills too.

---

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by Spearmint Rhino - 23-05-2008 16:13

---

EIM wrote:

Yeah.

But instead we'll concentrate on the fact you played Ujpest Dozsa U-11 in one of the finals, and that cartoon team from Bedknobs and Broomsticks in another.

Amusing as that post was, I can't let it go.

By speaking that way about Borussia Monchengladbach (who I assume are one of the teams you're talking about), you only reveal your own ignorance. BM were a major force in European football at the time. They'd won the Bundesliga three years in succession as well as a UEFA Cup (a much tougher tournament in those days), and had players like Jupp Heynckes, Allan Simonsen, Uli Stielike, Rainer Bonhof and Berti Vogts.

You might have a point about Bruges (who I assume are the other), but LFC still had to beat the likes of Benfica and Borussia (again) to get there.

I mean, fair enough, you don't remember the 70s. You're just a kid.

---

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by Hofzinser - 23-05-2008 16:25

---

It's the way you tell them, SR.

---

---

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by EIM - 23-05-2008 16:26

---

I was just chatting shit really.

=====

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by Spearmint Rhino - 23-05-2008 16:41

---

Hmpf.

=====

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by evilC - 23-05-2008 17:34

---

<http://www.manutdnews.co.uk/wp-content/uploads/2008/05/sign.jpg>

=====

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by rick derris - 23-05-2008 18:44

---

i think forest played the easiest team of any english european cup winners. Malmo c'mon evileC, that was posted on the other thread about 5 mins after the final whistle

=====

Re:WSC\'s \'Post of the Day\'

Posted by sixmartletsandaseagull - 23-05-2008 19:54

---

Bruges was a very good team at that time. Took Liverpool all the way in a 2 legged UEFA cup final in 76, too. I think they were 2-0 up at Anfield in the first leg, though my memory may be playing tricks.

Thankfully, much more than these days, top European sides seemed to come from all over in them days.

Bruges beat Juventus in the semi in 1978. A fantastic Juve team, which made up much of the brilliant Italy WC sides in 78 and 82.

=====