
Geek humour.

Posted by WornOldMotorbike - 04-07-2008 17:51

Here's the story:

"The non-profit agency in charge of the internet's addresses recently lost track of its own.

The Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers, or ICANN, said it happened on June 26 when an internet registration company it oversees got fooled into transferring the domain names to someone else."

Here's the URL: <http://www.cbc.ca/technology/story/2008/07/04/icann-pwned.html>

Heh.

Nil thread. Or worse.

=====