
You know when you finish a soft boiled egg?

Posted by EIM - 05-07-2008 06:26

Do you turn the shell upside down and put a hole in it, so 'the witches can't use it as a boat'?

I've been doing this since I was about four years old, after my Mum told me to, without once questioning it.

Re:You know when you finish a soft boiled egg?

Posted by Femme Folle - 05-07-2008 06:34

!

Re:You know when you finish a soft boiled egg?

Posted by TonTon - 05-07-2008 09:38

No

I would always crush the shell, though.

Re:You know when you finish a soft boiled egg?

Posted by Lyra - 05-07-2008 10:03

Yes, I was told the same thing and so I would automatically do that, yeah

Re:You know when you finish a soft boiled egg?

Posted by Bafflin Smoke Signals - 05-07-2008 11:58

I crush them and put them around the lettuce in the garden to deter slugs.

Re:You know when you finish a soft boiled egg?

Posted by Femme Folle - 05-07-2008 15:46

But why would be afraid of a witch that was so tiny she could fit into half an egg shell? I mean, you could easily just step on her.

Re:You know when you finish a soft boiled egg?

Posted by Rogin the Armchair Fan - 06-07-2008 08:16

I turn mine upside down, draw a picture of Sir Alex Ferguson's face on it in felt-tip pen, then smash it in with my teaspoon.

Re:You know when you finish a soft boiled egg?

Posted by Kurt Mondschein - 06-07-2008 09:53

The only relevant question surely is, before eating, whether to smash the shell and peel it off or to cut off the upper quarter like Hannibal Lecter did with Ray Liotta's head.

=====

Re:You know when you finish a soft boiled egg?

Posted by Wyatt Earp - 06-07-2008 10:16

It would also be a very ineffective boat, owing to the bad design of its keel.

=====

Re:You know when you finish a soft boiled egg?

Posted by hobbles - 06-07-2008 11:57

I turn mine upside down, draw a picture of Sir Alex Ferguson's face on it in felt-tip pen, then smash it in with my teaspoon. You must go through a lot of red felt tips.

=====